

SUMMER / FALL INTERNSHIP

SALT Conference is a Creative Arts conference that specifically targets those people that work in tech environments in the church. So whether it be film, TV, audio, leadership or stage design, SALT is for them.

So, if you want to learn what goes into planning a massive conference, what it's like to market a brand using social media, print and blogging. If you want to get your hands dirty and learn all of the ins and outs of planning an event from hospitality to honorariums and production to platform, then this internship is for you.

You will have the opportunity to tap into and learn from some of the most respected people in our industry. You can learn about starting a business, running e-commerce websites, managing a live events team or marketing your brand.

Orange Thread Media and our SALT team thrive on our relationships. We want to get to know you, your strengths and weaknesses. Show us what you have to offer and we'll teach you the rest.
